

I think this is ludacrist. What's next.....cutting the weather channel or the local news from broadcasting current information to the public! We pay for this service and it's our right to know.